Executive Director Search Update

Interim Executive Leadership Transition Team Formed

As the Illinois Philharmonic Orchestra prepares to begin its search for a new executive director, the Board of Directors announced today the appointment of an interim Executive Leadership Transition Team. Consisting of three members of the Board - Bill Donne (President), Tim Coburn (Vice President) and Dr. Mike Rogers (Chairman, Long Range Planning Committee), this team will work closely with all stakeholders to ensure business as usual until the executive director position is filled.

Donne, Coburn and Rogers bring decades of management expertise to the table, along with a passion for orchestral music and a commitment to the future growth of the IPO. The Board appreciates their willingness to step into this interim role and looks forward to the next chapter in the orchestra's history.

Please watch for additional search process updates via email and on the IPO web site.
